CONDITIONS OF SALE

1. All bids to be PER PIECE as numbered in the catalogue, unless otherwise mentioned.
2. The highest bidder to be the buyer. In all cases of disputed bids the lot shall be resold, but the auctioneer will use his judgment as to the good faith of all claims, and his decision shall be final.
3. Any bid which is not commensurate with the value of the article offered, or which is merely a nominal or fractional advance, may be rejected by the auctioneer if in his judgment such bid would be likely to affect the sale injuriously.
4. The name of the buyer of each lot shall be given immediately after the sale thereof, and when so required, each buyer shall sign a card giving the lot number, amount for which sold, and his or her name and address. ¶ A deposit at the actual time of the sale shall be made of all or such part of the purchase prices as may be required. ¶ If the two foregoing conditions are not complied with, the lot or lots so purchased may at the option of the auctioneer be put up again and resold.
5. Title passes upon the fall of the auctioneer's hammer, and thereafter the property is at the purchaser's risk, and neither the owner nor the Company is responsible for the loss of, or any damage to any article by theft, fire, breakage, however occasioned, or any other cause whatsoever.
6. Articles not paid for in full and not called for by the purchaser by noon of the day following that of the sale may be turned over by the Company to some carter to be carried to and stored in some warehouse until the time of the delivery therefrom to the purchaser, and the cost of such cartage and storage and any other charges will be charged against the purchaser, and the risk of loss or damage occasioned by such removal or storage will be upon the purchaser. ¶ In any instance where the bill has not been paid in full by noon of the day following that of the sale, the Company reserves the right, any other stipulation in these conditions of sale to the contrary notwithstanding, in respect to any or all lots included in the bill, at its option, either to cancel the sale thereof or to resell the same at public or private sale without further notice for the account of the buyer and to hold the buyer responsible for any deficiency sustained in so doing.
7. The Company exercises great care to catalogue every lot correctly and endeavors therein and also at the actual time of the sale to point out any error, defect, or imperfection, but guaranty is not made either by the owner or the Company of the correctness of the description, genuineness, authenticity or condition of any lot, and no sale will be set aside on account of any incorrectness, error of cataloguing or imperfection not noted or pointed out. Every lot is sold "as is" and without recourse.
8. Buying or bidding by the Company for responsible parties on orders transmitted to it by mail, telegraph, or telephone, if conditions permit, will be faithfully attended to without charge. Any purchases so made will be subject to the foregoing conditions of sale. Orders for execution by the Company should be given with such clearness as to leave no room for misunderstanding. Not only should the lot number be given, but also the name of the object, and a bid on several objects catalogued under a single number should be stated to be so much per piece unless the description contains the notation "[Lot.]", in which case the bid should be stated to be so much FOR THE LOT. If the one transmitting the order is unknown to the Company, a deposit must be sent or reference submitted. Shipping directions should also be given.

9. The Company will afford every facility for the employment of carriers and packers by the purchasers, but will not be responsible for any damage arising from the acts of such carriers and packers.

These Conditions of Sale cannot be altered except by an Officer of the Company

FOREWORD

THIS collection of American historical and pedigreed furniture, silver, and other objects, which we consider to be one of the finest of its kind that has ever appeared at public sale, largely represents twenty-five years of assiduous and highly discriminating collecting on the part of the late Philip Flayderman of Boston. Had he lived, there is no question but that many of these important items never would have appeared in the open market. Many of the pieces, valuable in themselves as fine examples of Colonial and early Federal craftsmanship, gain added importance by their association with distinguished characters of American history. Others have been handed down in families as heirlooms and can be traced back to colonists of New England as early as the reigns of William and Mary and of Queen Anne. Highly important are the pieces decorated in marquetry with the emblems of the young Republic, revealing the extent of the patriotic fervor which was to find its counterpart in later years in France, when furniture was carved with the torch and cap of Liberty.

It is said of Philip Flayderman that he went about his collecting in a quiet and unassuming manner, even to the extent of keeping his close personal friends in ignorance of the fine pieces that he gathered. The affidavits of authenticity that accompany most of the important items, as well as the quality of the pieces themselves, bear witness to his practicability as well as to his degree of connoisseurship in judging American antiques. It might be claimed that no other collection contains such a large number of pieces bearing the makers' original trade labels, constituting in themselves a valuable reference, and revealing the high degree of quality attained by Colonial craftsmen.

Impossible as it is to enumerate in a foreword all of the major pieces, a few of the high lights of the sale will be touched upon. A Hepplewhite secretary [No. 451], by John Seymour of Boston, is unquestionably as fine as anything existing of its type, and is one of the two known labeled pieces by this maker, the other of less striking quality being in the Metropolitan Museum of Art. A mahogany blocked tea table with claw-and-ball feet by John Goddard, of Newport, R. I. [No. 450], is authenticated by letters that passed between this cabinetmaker and the person for whom the table was made, and now in the possession of the Rhode Island School of Design; the table was ordered from Goddard by Jabez Bowen, one of the most distinguished figures in the history of Rhode Island, and the piece has descended direct in the Bowen family. A silver punch strainer [No. 388], of exceptionally fine workmanship, comes from the same family. A silver tankard by Samuel Vernon, of Newport, R. I. [No. 387], has descended from Colonel Joseph Noyes who commanded the first Regiment of Militia of Kings County, R. I. in 1778; the tankard is adorned on the handle with an English silver coin of the reign of William III, establishing an early date for the piece and rendering it extremely rare. A sideboard and a writing desk [Nos. 417 and 418] bear the original labels of Benjamin Frothingham, a personal friend of George Washington, and Major of Artillery during the Revolution.

A carved maple armchair [No. 459], owned by Governor John Hancock, Signer of the Declaration of Independence, was used by him at his inauguration as first Governor of the State of Massachusetts; another Signer's piece is a fine Hepplewhite sideboard [No. 487], owned by Governor Josiah Bartlett, New Hampshire. A group of four matched card tables [Nos. 470 and 471] are the only ones known bearing the original labels of John Townsend, of Newport, R. I., a contemporary of Goddard. The Chippendale Pembroke table [No. 472], also bearing this maker's label, is claimed to be of superior quality to the labeled Townsend tea table in the Metropolitan Museum of Art and is accompanied by a tea urn stand [No. 473] of identical design and undoubtedly by Townsend. A group of heirlooms comprising a sideboard, a pair of knife boxes, two portraits by Joseph Blackburn, a set of nine Duncan Phyfe shield-back chairs, and a finely carved Chippendale chair [Nos. 442 - 447] recalls the close personal friendship and colorful history of two noted characters of the pre-Revolutionary period, Sir William Johnson (of French and Indian War fame) and Daniel Campbell, wealthy citizen of Schenectady, N. Y.

The sale of this collection, which takes place by order of Hyman Kaufman and Benjamin Flayderman, individually and as administrator of the estate of the late Philip Flayderman, will enable collectors to acquire pieces of unique character and superb quality.

379. EARLY AMERICAN SILVER PORRINGER BY BENJAMIN BURT

Boston, Mass., 1729-1805

850 Circular, with convex sides and concave base, and handsomely pierced handle of cinquefoil pattern engraved O. B. TO S. B. which represents "the gift of Obadiah Brown to Sally Brown"; also stamped with the maker's name in full in a shaped cartouche. Very rare.

Diameter, 5 1/4 inches

Note: Benjamin Burt, a noted silversmith of the Colonial Period, was the son of John Burt, celebrated pioneer Boston silversmith. A number of examples of this maker's work are illustrated by Bigelow in Historic Silver of the Colonies and Its Makers, 1917.

Purchased from the Bowen family, Rhode Island

[See illustration]

380. EARLY AMERICAN SILVER PORRINGER BY ROBERT EVANS

Boston, Mass., 1768-1812

375 Circular, with convex sides and concave base. Handle pierced in a beautiful cinquefoil pattern and engraved E. E. TO M. F. in script. Reverse of handle stamped with the maker's surname in shaded italic capitals in a serrated rectangle. Very rare.

Diameter, 5 1/4 inches

[See illustration]

381. EARLY AMERICAN SILVER PORRINGER BY DANIEL ROGERS

Newport, R. I., 1753-1792

Circular, with convex sides and concave base, the fine handle pierced in cinquefoil scroll pattern and stamped with the maker's name in full in a rectangle. Very rare.

Diameter, 5 inches

Note: Bigelow, in Historic Silver of the Colonies, 1917, records this maker as working in Newport, R. I. at this period and illustrates two spoons bearing his name.

[See illustration opposite]

382. GEORGE III SILVER SHAPED TANKARD

Newcastle, circa 1780

Slightly bulbous-shaped body encircled by molded band, boldly scrolled handle, domed cover, open-scroll billet, and flaring molded foot. Maker's name and assay mark stamped under the foot, on the cover, and on the handle. Handle also engraved with the initials c. w. m. Fine specimen.

383. TEN SILVER PISTOL-HANDLED TABLE KNIVES AND
TEN FORKS SIMILAR Circa 1750-60
Pistol shape handles of silver terminating in fluted shells. All clearly stamped with the maker's initials J. E. in a rectangle. The knives with sabre pattern steel blades, the forks double-pronged. [Lot.]

300

Note: The fact that these knives and forks and the following set bear maker's marks only allows of the possibility that they were made by a Colonial silversmith, as silver table ware of this sort made in England usually bears the assay and town marks as well as those of the maker.

From the Campbell Estate, Schenectady, N. Y.

384. TEN SILVER PISTOL-HANDLED TABLE KNIVES AND
TEN FORKS SIMILAR Circa 1750-60
Of nearly similar pattern to the preceding. All clearly stamped with the maker's initials I. W. in a rectangle. [Lot.]

386. EARLY AMERICAN SILVER PORRINGER BY RUFUS GREEN

Boston, Mass., 1707-1777

Circular with convex sides and handsomely pierced handle in trefoil pattern. The handle is engraved with the initials E. B. and with the following: "The Gift of Andrew Lane to Sarah Henshaw 1760". The rim is stamped with the maker's initials R. G. in a rectangle. Very rare.

Diameter, 3¾ inches

Note: The initials E. B. are those of Elizabeth Bass, who was the first granddaughter of John and Priscilla Alden of Mayflower fame. When, after the decease of Elizabeth, Andrew Lane made a gift of the porringer to Sarah Henshaw, it was then valued as a souvenir. A lineal descendant of the Aldens testifies to the foregoing in an affidavit that will be given to the purchaser.

387. IMPORTANT EARLY AMERICAN SILVER TANKARD
BY SAMUEL VERNON Newport, R. I., 1683-1737

4500 - Slightly tapered plain body, domed cover, scrolled handle and billet, molded base. The maker's initials s. v., a fleur-de-lys below, in a heart-shaped shield, stamped to the left of the handle, on the handle and on the cover. Handle engraved with initials N. J. B. in Roman letters and script, and mounted with a silver coin of William III which indicates a very early date for the manufacture of the tankard. Very rare. Height, 7¼ inches; diameter, 4⅞ inches

Note: Samuel Vernon was born in Newport, R. I., December 6th, 1683. Was registered as a Freeman in 1714 and engaged in civic activities in settling controversial matters for land grants and adjusting of health conditions in the Colony. He ranks as one of the most prominent silversmiths of this early period.

A two-handled silver beaker by Vernon presented in 1707 by Sir John Davis, Recorder of the Incorporation of Groton, is in the First Congregational Church, Groton, Conn. Vide: Bigelow, Historic Silver of the Colonies and Its Makers and Ensko, American Silversmiths and their Marks.

The tankard was formerly in the possession of Joseph Noyes, who was Colonel of the First Regiment of Militia, Kings County, 1778, and commanded under Major General Sullivan during the War. Viz: State Records, State House, Providence, R. I. It has descended in the family to Mary Noyes Rogers from whom it was obtained by the present owners.

388. THE JABEZ BOWEN SILVER PUNCH STRAINER, MADE BY JOHN CLARK Boston or Salem, Mass., circa 1750-1770

5800 Distinguished for its beautiful pierced arabesque handles, the perforations of the bowl are formed to read as follows Jabez Bowen, Providence, January 1766. The handles, which are of sufficient length to bridge a punch bowl, are stamped with the maker's surname in a scalloped cartouche. Very fine specimen. Length, 11¾ inches

Note: This beautiful punch strainer and the important Goddard tea table (see lot No. 450) have descended in the family of the Bowens of Providence, R. I., as prized heirlooms of Jabez Bowen, the distinguished soldier, jurist, and member of the Council of War during the Revolution.

The fact that the piece bears Bowen's name and date presupposes it to be a gift made to Jabez Bowen by some civic body as a token of their esteem. Accompanied by an affidavit by a member of the Bowen family from whom the present owners purchased the piece.

390. PAIR OF COMMODORE TRUXTON BATTERSEA ENAMEL MIRROR KNOBS XVIII Century

Circular, of gilded metal, framing enamel plaquettes painted with bust portraits of the naval hero and captioned COMMODORE TRUXTON. The ends threaded for screwing into a wall. Diameter, 1 7/8 inches

Note: Commodore Truxton is classified with Paul Jones as a most energetic and distinguished naval officer of the period of America's early struggles at sea to maintain independence and position as a sovereign state. Among the most brilliant of his exploits was the capture of the French frigate L'Insurgent off Hen's Island on Feb. 9, 1799, for which he was awarded a present of plate worth six hundred guineas, by Lloyd's Coffee House, London.

405. SHERATON DECORATED AND GILDED WASHINGTON MEMORIAL
MIRROR WITH MAKER'S LABEL OF CERMENATI & BERNARDA

Salem, Mass., circa 1800

550 Frame in architectural style with fluted pilasters and ball decorated pediment, contains in the upper part a glass frieze painted with a memorial of Washington, consisting of furled flags and other military trophies grouped about an urn, on the plinth of which is inscribed Sacred to the Memory of Washin[g]ton; it is interesting to note the misspelling of Washington's name. On the back is pasted the maker's label which reads Cermenati & Bernarda, Gilders and Looking Glass Manufacturers, opposite Albert Grant's Hat Store, Essex Street, Salem. Frame regilded at some later period.

408. SHERATON INLAID MAHOGANY SMALL SETTEE

New England, circa 1790-1800

6,000
Slightly curved back, the sloped arms resting on reeded slender balusters that extend into reeded, tapered, and turned legs, inlaid with figured maple on the dies. A similarly reeded third leg supports the seat frame at the centre, which is curved to conform with the contour of the back. Canted back legs of plain square pattern. Upholstered back, seat, and arms covered in tapestry fabric. Its small size and delightful proportions make this settee very desirable. Length, 57 inches

Note: The sofa was originally owned by and presumably made for William Bond, silversmith and maker of chronometers for the British Admiralty, who settled at Portland, Me., in 1783, where his daughter, Hannah Cranch Bond, and his son, William Cranch Bond, were born. Later they came to Dorchester and built a house on Cottage Street. The son, William Cranch Bond, astronomer, is noted for his work in superintending the erection of the Harvard Observatory in 1839; his son George also maintained the reputation of this noted family in the field of astronomy. The sofa has descended in the family, and a signed affidavit stating its history will be given to the purchaser.

417. HEPPLEWHITE INLAID MAHOGANY SIDEBOARD WITH
MAKER'S LABEL OF BENJN. FROTHINGHAM

Charlestown, Mass., circa 1780-90

5,500
'Break-front' shaped in a graceful serpentine curve with three drawers in the centre part, flanked by drawers and cupboards at either side, in fine figured mahogany banded with cross-cut wood of beautiful color, and furnished with old repoussés gilded metal knobs. On six tapered square legs inlaid with stringings of holly and three-petal motives on upper part. Slightly overlapping top decorated on the edge with similar inlay. In top centre drawer is the maker's label which reads Benjn. Frothingham, Cabinet Maker, Charlestown, N[ew]. E[ngland].

Height, 38 inches; length, 59 inches; depth, 25 inches

Note: Benjamin Frothingham was born in Boston, April 6th, 1734. He was the son of Benjamin Frothingham, also a cabinetmaker and joiner, with a shop near Milk Street. He enlisted in Richard Gridley's Artillery Company in 1756 and served for seven years. In the Revolutionary War, he gained the rank of Major of Artillery and became a close friend of George Washington. F. F. Hunnewell in History of Charlestown records that Major Benjamin Frothingham lived on Walker Street and lost his dwelling, barn, and shop in the destruction of Charlestown by the British in 1775. It was at his house, rebuilt after the War, that President Washington, on his only visit to Charlestown, made a social call on the friend whom he had known as an officer during the War of the Revolution.

Body contains four long drawers shaped in serpentine curves, the carving of the top drawer constituting an intricate piece of cabinet work. Above, a hinged slant writing flap encloses fan carved small drawers and pigeonholes and two secret drawers; finely shaped ogee bracket feet. Retains its fine old Chippendale brass handles, key-plates and old patina. In an interior small drawer is pasted the finely engraved maker's label which reads Benjn. Frothingham Cabinet Maker, Charlestown, N. E. The label, one of the best that has come to light, bears in the lower right-hand corner the initials N. H. ScP., probably those of Nathaniel Hurd, 1730-1777, of Boston, one of the earliest Colonial engravers.

419. FINELY INLAID MAHOGANY SECRETARY WITH TAMBOUR FRONT
New England, circa 1790

1160
Comprises a case of four long drawers with a hinged writing flap above, on which is superimposed a smaller cabinet of drawers and pigeonholes enclosed by two sliding tambour shutters, which flank a centre small door enclosing drawers; two drawers in the frieze. Gracefully valanced skirt and slightly tapered bracket feet. Constructed of fine textured blond mahogany; the fronts of all drawers, the locker door, and the broad facing of the frame veneered with a silky textured wood of light color, probably tulipwood, edged with a checkered piping of black-and-white holly, and bordered with cross-cut figured mahogany. The edge of the top, the hinged flap, the skirt and the pulls show similar inlay.

Height, 4 feet 3 inches; width, 38½ inches

Note: This beautiful small secretary which is, excepting the brass handles, in original state, is attributed to the Newburyport, Mass., school of cabinetmakers and reflects the high water mark of quality reached by post-Colonial craftsmen in their attempt to reproduce the fine cabinet work of Hepplewhite, Sheraton, and their contemporaries. This is especially noticeable in the inlay and veneer, in which a native wood is used to imitate satinwood, a foreign commodity.

21. FINELY CARVED MAHOGANY DROP-LEAF TABLE, WITH

Oblong top, with two scalloped half-round drop-leaves supported on frieze flanges; frieze with single end drawer, the dies paneled with stringing in brass and having turned knob pendants. On four baluster-turned supports, reeded and ring-turned towards the base and standing on incurvate quadrangular plinth and four acanthus-scrolled legs terminating in claw feet. Inside the drawer is pasted original maker's label, with line-cut of M. Allison's Cabinet and Upholstery Furniture Warehouse, No. 46 & 48, Vesey Street, New York, May, 1817. Height, 28 inches; length extended, 46 inches

The molded oblong top overlaps the body to an unusual depth all around and has incurved front corners. Front contains one long and three small drawers with contemporary Chippendale brasses of handsome design, the centre small drawer decorated with characteristic carved shell or fan in concave style. Triple-arched skirt and four slender cabriole legs, ending in claw-and-ball feet and carved with scrolled acanthus leaves on the knees.

Height, 31 inches; length, 33½ inches

Note: In all probability the work of a Salem cabinetmaker. It is interesting to note that the hollowing of the centre drawer is continued into the valanced apron and also that, although the skirt features the usual pendants or scallops, no finials were intended.

423. IMPORTANT CARVED AND PAINTED OAK AND PINE
'SUNFLOWER' CHEST

Connecticut, circa 1675

2,200
Oblong molded top, paneled sides and front, the latter enriched upon the stiles with six applied split baluster ornaments. The front divided into three panels, carved in flat relief, the centre one octagonal and carved with an upright stem with three 'sunflowers', the side panels upright and carved with tulips and scrolling leafage; the decoration enhanced by a rich polychromy of red and yellow for the flowers, and green for the leafage, the moldings painted yellow. Molded base on block feet, which are restored.

Height, 25 inches; length, 48 inches

Note: This exceptionally beautiful Connecticut chest, with its colorful polychrome decoration, belongs to the most desirable class of Pilgrim furniture. The chest without base drawers is rarer than the double-drawer type, and the preservation of the old polychrome, probably often renewed, is an exceptional feature. Compare for style the chest in the J. N. Campbell collection, illustrated in Wallace Nutting, Furniture Treasury, 1928, No. 62.

THE SIR WILLIAM JOHNSON – DANIEL CAMPBELL HEIRLOOMS

JOSEPH BLACKBURN

AMERICAN: op. 1754-1762

442. PORTRAIT OF SIR WILLIAM JOHNSON

Waist-length portrait, looking towards the observer, of a gentleman in middle age with dark curly hair and wearing a brown coat and waistcoat piped in gold, white collar, and black stock; the finely modeled head posed before a background suffused with soft light and bounded by a painted oval. In fine old carved wood frame.

Height, 30 inches; width, 25 inches

Note: Joseph Blackburn, one of the early New England portrait painters, was born in Great Britain, probably about 1720, and painted in America between 1754 and 1762; about eighty of his portraits exist in this country, among them those of Thomas and Mary Dering in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, Jonathan and Margaret Simpson in the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, and portraits of the Atkinson family in the Worcester Art Museum and in the Rhode Island School of Design.

Sir William Johnson, Bart. (1715-1774) was an Irish gentleman who founded an estate near Schenectady in 1738, became friendly with the Indians and in 1748 was in command of the New York Colonial forces.: After treating with the Indians, he was created major general and baronet in 1755, after the victory of Lake George. On the death of his wife, he became united with 'Molly' Brant (the sister of the Mohawk Sachem, Thayendanegea), with whom he lived until his death and by whom he had eight natural children. The present painting comes from a descendant of Daniel Campbell, an intimate friend and executor of Sir William Johnson (see George S. Roberts, Old Schenectady, n.d., pp. 239-241).

446. IMPORTANT SET OF NINE CARVED MAHOGANY SHIELD-BACK
CHAIRS ATTRIBUTED TO DUNCAN PHYFE

New York, circa 1790-1800

1000 ca ✓
Shield-shaped back, occupied by beautiful openwork splat composed of drapery festoons depending from fleur-de-lys in a jardinière, rosettes, and formal foliage sprays converging to a segmented sunflower motive at the base. Slightly flaring seat, reeded and tapered square legs, braced by stretchers. Four of the chairs retain their original covering of figured green silk, one is covered in plain white fabric and four have a later covering of amber velours.

Note: The present chairs, compared with the more commonly found Sheraton and Directoire chairs by Phyfe, are found to have characteristics of the work of this noted cabinet and chairmaker, and there is no reason why he should not have produced for his patrons shield-back chairs as well as those of the more popular and traditional type.

447. FINELY CARVED EARLY CHIPPENDALE MAHOGANY SIDE CHAIR

2700
Slightly flaring open back occupied by a pierced splat formed of a vase motive, a lozenge, and graceful volutes rising to the yoke-shape crest rail; top rail enriched at the centre with a shell and trellis-carved lunette motive, the 'ears' with shell and leafage. Saddle-shaped seat frame valanced in cyma curves at the front, cabriole front legs ending in bird claw-and-ball feet and carved with acanthus leafage on the knees. Slip seat covered in wool embroidered mohair of the last century.

Note: This chair formed part of the furnishings of Johnson Hall built by Sir William Johnson in 1764, near the village of Johnstown, New York. It was purchased by the present owners from a family whose ancestors had obtained the chair at an auction sale several generations ago. A sworn affidavit to this effect will be given to the purchaser. Three matching chairs of this set and from the same source are in a noted New York collection.

450. IMPORTANT CHIPPENDALE CARVED MAHOGANY CLAW-AND-BALL
FOOT TEA TABLE MADE BY JOHN GODDARD FOR JABEZ BOWEN
Newport, R. I., 1763

29,000

The oblong tray-top of fine textured solid mahogany shaped in graceful ogival curves and bordered by a raised cyma molding. The frieze, of a six-inch depth, is similarly shaped and unadorned by carving, thus allowing its great beauty of contour to be fully appreciated. The four cabriole legs of characteristic angular type gracefully proportioned and decorated on the upper part with carved foliage of cameo quality, terminating in realistic eagle claw-and-ball feet showing fine under-cutting.

Height, 27 inches; length, 32 inches; width, 19½ inches

Note: This beautiful table is authenticated as being the work of John Goddard by three letters in the possession of the Rhode Island School of Design, and highly interesting is the claim that the discovery of the tea table and the letters established first proof of the existence of John Goddard as a Newport, R. I., cabinetmaker, now ranked as one of the two best craftsmen in Colonial America. The letters also refer to the table as being made for Jabez Bowen and are further interesting in their revelation of a misunderstanding that arose between craftsman and client, and also in their telling of work carried out by Goddard for Governor Hopkins and others.

Jabez Bowen was Colonel of the First Regiment of Militia of Providence County, 1776, and as Justice of the Superior Court, was chosen to meet Commissioners from other states according to the recommendation of Congress in 1777; Member of the Council of War in 1781, and at the same time elected Deputy Governor of Rhode Island. He was created charter member in the Order of the Cincinnati in 1783. Vis: State Records, State House, Providence.

The table has descended in the Bowen family, from whom it was purchased by the present owners

451. IMPORTANT HEPPLEWHITE INLAID MAHOGANY TAMBOUR
SECRETARY WITH MAKER'S LABEL OF JOHN SEYMOUR & SON

Boston, circa 1790

30,000

A cabinet of two long drawers with a hinged folding flap above, on four tapered square legs with pierced scrolled brackets at the corners, superimposed by a cabinet of arched pigeonholes and small drawers, enclosed by a pair of sliding tambour shutters. Constructed in variously figured mahogany of the highest quality, the shutters inlaid with husk festoons in light wood; flanking the shutters and the drawers, inlay simulating pilasters. The edge of the top and of the folding writing flap inlaid with checkered bandings of similar shaded holly, the tapered square legs inlaid with delicate pendent sprays of husk ornament and cuffed at the base. Drawer fronts paneled with stringings of holly or satinwood, enriched with four contemporary beaded ring handles, framing circular plaques of Battersea enamel painted with female figures emblematic of the Four Seasons. Pasted on the bottom of the lower drawer is the maker's original label which reads: John Seymour & Son, Cabinet Makers. . . .

Height, 42 inches; width, 38 inches

Note: A superb example of New England cabinetwork and for quality, condition, and design unquestionably one of the finest pieces of American cabinet furniture in existence, and one of the two known labeled pieces by John Seymour & Son. The other piece a secretary owned by Mr. George Cleuett, of Troy, New York, is on exhibition in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, American Wing. The light blue paint which coats the interior of the upper part is characteristic of Seymour's work.

452. HEPPLEWHITE INLAID MAHOGANY TAMBOUR-FRONT SIDEBOARD
BY JOHN SEYMOUR Boston, circa 1790

Oblong top, with broad crossbanded border and banded edge; straight front with three cockbeaded small drawers trimmed with Peace and Plenty oval brasses and bail handles, and surmounting upright sliding tambours with stiles inlaid in hollywood with flat column ornaments. Skirt centred with a small scrolled pendant containing the lock, and having graceful S-scrrolled brackets; quadrangular tapering legs with spade feet. Height, 38 inches; length, 53 inches

Note: Compared with the preceding labeled secretary by John Seymour, there can be no question that the present piece is from the hand of this fine cabinetmaker. This attribution is further substantiated by the fact that the interior of the piece shows a coating of light blue paint, a characteristic of Seymour's work. The cabinet work of the tambours, the elegant brackets, and the ivory keyholes all indicate a cabinet piece of very high merit.

454. IMPORTANT MAHOGANY SECRETARY CHEST-ON-CHEST
BY SAMUEL MCINTIRE Salem, Mass., circa 1775

3400
Upright, with dentiled triangular broken pediment centred with a superbly carved original American eagle finial; upper portion with five graduated long drawers within cockbeaded frames, enclosed by flat fluted pilasters. Underbody with pull-out secretary having upright fall-front and interior fitted with drawers, pigeonholes, a cupboard and secret pilaster drawers; below are three graduated long drawers. Molded base, on serpentine bracket feet. The drawers are fitted with large Chippendale brasses and bail handles.

Height, 7 feet; width, 42 1/2 inches

Note: A rare and interesting synthesis, and as far as we have been able to discover, a unique design. The upper portion exhibits the proportions and treatment of Kent's Georgian furniture, greatly enhanced by the really exceptional quality of the carved eagle. The secretary contained in the underbody was probably constructed to special order, possibly after the original design, which is strongly English in character (like much of McIntire's work), was carried out.

455. IMPORTANT CARVED MAHOGANY BLOCK-FRONT
SECRETARY-CABINET WITH CLAW-AND-BALL FEET

New England, circa 1770

13,000

Composed of a cabinet of pigeonholes, shelves and compartments with attractive shaped partitions enclosed by a pair of doors, the panels in richly figured solid mahogany, the frames beautifully carved in ogive curves and flanked by fluted and molded pilasters simulating columns supporting a molded scroll broken arch pediment surmounted by three spiral flame and urn finials. Superimposed upon a scrutoir containing four graded long drawers showing characteristic raised and depressed square blocking and furnished with the fine original Chippendale brass handles and escutcheons. Above the drawers is a hinged slant writing flap enclosing an arrangement of arched pigeonholes and fan-carved and blocked small drawers, at either side of a fan-carved locker enclosing drawers flanked by two pilaster-fronted vertical drawers. At the centre are two draw-out brackets to hold candlesticks. Except for a missing small drawer of the interior of the upper part, the piece is in original state with old patina. Stands on four bold eagle claw-and-ball feet.

Height, 8 feet; width, 44 inches

Note: A splendid example constructed in fine quality mahogany, and attributed to a Newburyport cabinetmaker.

456. WILLIAM AND MARY CURLY MAPLE TRUMPET-LEG LOWBOY
OR DRESSING TABLE American, circa 1700-10

Molded rectangular top slightly overlapping the frame, front gracefully valanced in triple-arch pattern and edged with delicate beading; contains three drawers banded with inlay. On four so-called trumpet turned legs with turned feet and braced by cyma-curved flat stretchers, at the centre of which is a baluster ornament. The top is of pleasing fiddle-back maple, while the frame and under-structure are finished to simulate walnut. Missing pendent ornaments of the skirt have not been replaced and the brass handles do not claim to be of the period. Height, 29½ inches; length, 30 inches

Note: Furniture of this early period and type is prized for its great rarity and elegant appearance. The present piece is in original state, which is remarkable when its fragility of construction is taken into account. The piece retains its old patina.

7. MAHOGANY SERPENTINE FRONT WRITING DESK, WITH CLAW-AND-BALL FEET New England, circa 1760-70

Contains four long drawers, shaped in graceful serpentine curves, the shaping of the top drawer representing a difficult piece of cabinet-work, in which a contoured surface has to be graded to the plane of the rectangular framework. Above the drawers a hinged slant flap encloses pigeonholes and small drawers, at either side of a fan-carved and blocked small drawer, arranged in two tiers. The base is bordered by a handsome ogive molding, the flare of which continues into fine ogee brackets and eagle claw-and-ball feet.

Height, 44½ inches; length, 44½ inches

Note: A scrutoir of splendid proportions, condition, and surface quality, and further distinguished by its original set of Chippendale brass handles and key-plates. It is interesting to note that the lock of each drawer varies in pattern and must be opened by a different key. The desk is attributed to a Newburyport cabinetmaker and typifies the domestic well-being and quality of enterprise attained by the wealthy burghers of the New England trading ports.

458. QUEEN ANNE WALNUT BONNET-TOP HIGHBOY, WITH PAINTED SHELLS New England, circa 1750

1300
The upper part consists of a case of five small and three long drawers flanked by fluted flat pilasters and capped by a 'broken-arch' molded pediment of graceful form, with three pedestals for urn finials; the lower part with five drawers, triple arch skirt and cabriole legs ending in pad feet. A rare feature is the decoration of the top and bottom drawers — these are hollowed in lunette fashion and painted and gilded to simulate shells. Of warm toned light brown walnut with unusually fine surface and color. Original brasses. Very rare.

Height, 6 feet 11 inches; width, 41 inches

[NUMBER 458]

THE history of the three following historical chairs is given in an affidavit sworn to by a descendant of Mary Quincy, sister of Dorothy Quincy, the wife of John Hancock, and in whose family the chairs have descended and from whom they were purchased by the present owners. The Governor Hancock armchair [No. 459] has been handed down from generation to generation as the chair used by John Hancock at his inauguration as first Governor of Massachusetts. According to the attester, the chair "was my mother's prized possession and was always with her, even when she went to Philadelphia". The Judge John Cushing chair [No. 460] formed part of the original furnishings of the old State House at Boston, and according to the family tradition is the chair in which Judge Cushing sat during the trial of the British soldiers who participated in the Boston massacre. A similar chair from the same source is to be seen in the present State House at Boston. The 'Lady Pepperell' chair [No. 461] was owned by the wife of Sir William Pepperell, of Siege of Louisburg fame, and other important military activities in the early Colonial period, afterwards acting Governor of Massachusetts, and came into the family with the marriage of Mary Sheafe, daughter of Senator James Sheafe of Portsmouth, New Hampshire (1755-1829). It is to be presumed that the Sheafes of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, married with the Pepperells of Kittery, Maine, just across the border. The chair has always been known as the 'Lady Pepperell' chair.

459. THE GOVERNOR HANCOCK INAUGURATION CHAIR

New England, circa 1710

A finely carved maple armchair of early type, the high back with carved scroll and foliage crest, boldly curved arms resting on balusters that extend into vase and ring turned front legs with carved 'Spanish' feet. The front posts braced by a handsome stretcher turned in ball-and-collar pattern at the centre. Back retains its original caned panel which has been covered with mulberry-red velours at some later period.

Note: The chair was used by John Hancock, Signer of the Declaration of Independence, at his inauguration as first Governor of the State of Massachusetts. The chair has descended in one family from John Hancock. An affidavit, stating its history and sworn to by a descendant of the Governor's family, will be given to the purchaser. A piece of the wedding gown of Dorothy Quincy, the wife of John Hancock, accompanies the chair, and is mentioned in the affidavit.

Note: The chair was part of the original furnishings of the old Boston State House and has been handed down in the Cushing family. It is said to be the chair in which Judge John Cushing sat when presiding at the trial of the British soldiers in the Boston massacre. 461. THE 'LADY PEPPERELL' CARVED HIGH-BACK CHAIR

500
High back composed of baluster turned posts framing a molded splat surmounted by a pierced cresting of scrolls and leafage. Baluster turned front posts ending in carved 'Spanish' feet and braced by stretchers, the front stretcher of ash, finely turned in club and ring pattern. The splat and seat originally caned and now covered with nineteenth century machine tapestry fabric, the chair otherwise in original state with old patina.

Note: This chair was owned originally by Sir William and Lady Pepperell of Kittery, Me. Sir William ranks with Washington as a genius in military matters and is famed for having conducted the Siege of Louisburg, and for negotiations with the Indians. He was Acting Governor of the Massachusetts Colony in 1756-8, and in the words of Appleton "did more than any other man to prepare the army that was afterward to achieve American independence." A photostat copy of the preceding affidavit stating the history of the chair will be given to the purchaser.

Height, 30 inches; length extended, 34½ inches

465. HISTORIC MAHOGANY TURNED GATE-LEG DINING TABLE FROM THE JOSEPH REYNOLDS MANSION, BRISTOL, R. I.

American, circa 1740-50

1600 Oval top on double-gated understructure beautifully turned in vase, ball-and-collar pattern and in an unusually fine state of preservation. A drawer at one end of the frame.

*Height, 29½ inches; length, 5 feet 8 inches;
width, 4 feet 9 inches*

Note: The table is known to have stood in the Joseph Reynolds Mansion, Bristol, R. I., and acquires historical interest from the fact that General Lafayette made this house his headquarters during September, 1778. A bronze tablet recording this event was erected by the State of Rhode Island, 1906. The table was purchased by the present owners from Alexander Fales, in whose family it has remained for a hundred years. The legend is that Lafayette dined at this table at a banquet served in his honor.

468. IMPORTANT SHELL-CARVED MAHOGANY BLOCK-FRONT
TALL-CASE CLOCK, BY JOHN GODDARD

Newport, R. I., circa 1770

48
1/00

The white painted metal dial of characteristic type, arched at the top, shows phases of the moon on a revolving disc and is decorated in the spandrels with painted sprigs of flowers. The hood has fluted free columns supporting an arched and scrolled pediment which terminates in rosettes and is surmounted by three handsome urn and flame finials. The salient feature is the pendulum door, which is blocked in convex style for the full extent of its length, and decorated at the top with a finely carved ribbed semicircular shell enclosing an anethemion. The corners of the upper section of the case are chamfered and reeded in columnar pattern and plain chamfered on the lower part. On ogival bracket feet. Height, 8 feet 2 inches

Note: This beautiful clock case exhibits the work of a first-class cabinet-maker and is undoubtedly by this craftsman. The blocking and shell carving of the pendulum door is accepted generally as a form of ornamentation confined to the Rhode Island school of cabinetmakers, and the fact that the clock dial is unsigned further substantiates the claim that the clock is by John Goddard.

469. IMPORTANT CHIPPENDALE CARVED WALNUT GRANDFATHER
CLOCK, BY JONATHAN GOSTELOWE OR BENJAMIN RANDOLPH

Philadelphia, circa 1760-70

3400
Arched and painted metal dial shows phases of the moon on a revolving disc; movement by C. & D. Farrar, Lampeter, Pa. In a case of splendid design, condition and quality, the arched hood with fluted pilasters supporting a double-scroll pediment surmounted by three fluted urn and flame finials on square plinths. The deep frieze richly carved in relief in the Chippendale manner with leaf arabesques on a stippled ground. Case arranged in two tiers with arched pendulum door, chamfered and fluted columnar corners, finely carved borders and ogee bracket feet.

Height, 8 feet 6 inches

Note: The above attribution for this splendid clock case is made on the grounds that it bears outstanding characteristics of both of these Philadelphia cabinetmakers, and secondly because it is known that Gostelowe and Randolph executed fine clock cases to special order of their patrons, to hold the fine imported English brass dialed movements, or the simpler movements of native manufacture, as in the present case. The present example is as fine as any extant and may be compared to the Edward Duffield clock in the Reifsnyder Collection, American Art Galleries, 1929, catalogue No. 667.

Exhibited for a long period of years at the New Hampshire Historical Society, Concord, N. H.

470. IMPORTANT PAIR OF SHERATON INLAID MAHOGANY CARD TABLES
WITH MAKER'S LABEL OF JOHN TOWNSEND

Newport, R. I., circa 1780-90

2800
Hinged top of close-grained solid mahogany shaped in serpentine curves. Frame shaped in conforming curves and decorated at the centre with inlaid fan medallions in shaded holly; the four tapered square legs embellished with conventional inlay in similar wood. Each table contains a drawer at one end of the frame, a most uncommon feature, and in one drawer is the maker's trade label which reads Made by John Townsend, Newport. The drawers are lined in pine and chestnut and retain original brass bail handles. Very rare and in original state.

Height, 28½ inches; length extended, 34 inches

Note: John Townsend and John Goddard were relatives, and these two men are ranked as the leading cabinetmakers of Newport, Rhode Island, at this period, Goddard excelling in wood carving and Townsend in reproducing the styles of Hepplewhite and Sheraton. This pair of tables and the following pair form a group of four matched card tables and, as far as is known, are the only ones existing bearing Townsend's label. They were originally the property of Col. John Cooke, who commanded the second regiment of Newport and Bristol Counties in various engagements in the War of the Revolution, and was counted one of the richest men in Rhode Island. The four tables descended in the family to four sisters from whom the present owners obtained them. An accompanying affidavit detailing the history of the card tables from first to last ownership, will be given to the purchaser.

472. CHINESE CHIPPENDALE CARVED MAHOGANY PEMBROKE TABLE
WITH MAKER'S LABEL OF JOHN TOWNSEND

Newport, R. I., circa 1760-70

7000
Rectangular top of figured solid mahogany with a drop-leaf at either side, supported by pivot brackets. On four square legs finely carved with hollow and full fluting, ornamented at the angles with fret-carved brackets, and braced by fretted transverse stretchers finely carved in rope pattern. A drawer at one end of the frame contains the maker's label which reads Made by John Townsend, Newport. In original state. Height, 28 1/2 inches; length, 32 inches

Note: The present table is distinguished by the fine fret carving and fluting that decorates the legs and stretchers, which for an article of furniture of this size is in good taste. The beading framing the drawer and the delicate interlaced fret carving of the frieze especially should be noted as betokening cabinet-work by a skilled craftsman endeavoring to reproduce the designs of his famous English contemporary. The table has descended in one family to the present owner. A closely similar table bearing John Townsend's label is in the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

3 Too
Of tripod form, the square top bordered by a finely fretted gallery in the Chinese taste and containing a pull-out bracket at one side, the frieze scratch-carved in a diaper pattern. Pedestal carved with hollow and spiral fluting and finely turned, and resting on a graceful cabriole tripod with snake feet. The piece comes apart by unscrewing the top. In original condition.

Height, 29 1/2 inches; size of top, 8 inches square

Note: That the piece is by John Townsend cannot be disputed when a comparison is made with the preceding Pembroke table. The pierced fret carving is identical and the scratch-carved diaper work undoubtedly is by the same hand. Both pieces are of the same original ownership, the urn stand being handed down in a different branch of the family.

475. CARVED MAHOGANY CLAW-AND-BALL FOOT
MARTHA WASHINGTON ARMCHAIR

Newburyport, Mass., circa 1760-70

3000
Slightly arched and canted back and flaring seat, gracefully voluted arms resting on attenuated and curved uprights carved in cabochon and scroll pattern on the lower sections at the junction with the seat frame. Angular cabriole front legs ending in claw-and-ball feet and braced to the slightly canted plain rear posts by turned spindle stretchers. The chair retains an old coating of varnish which should be removed to expose the fine grain of the wood — this the owner thought had better be left to the discretion of the purchaser.

Note: The chair is attributed to a Newburyport chair maker and displays characteristics of design found in work by craftsmen of this locality. The carving of the arm supports especially should be noted, also the use of the claw-footed cabriole leg in place of the straight leg usually found on chairs of this designation. If the term 'Martha Washington' is to be applied to all chairs that conform generally to this style, the present example might be termed one of the earliest and rarest examples that has yet come to light. An interesting feature is the rabbeting of the seat, which traverses the frame in the English manner, but which is of maple, thus establishing an American origin for the chair.

The chair has remained in a Newburyport, Mass. family since 1775, and was used at one time in the old Wolfe Tavern, kept and owned by an early ancestor, who was Captain Davenport of Newburyport. An affidavit giving the history of the chair and sworn to by a member of the family will be given to the purchaser.

476. LADY'S QUEEN ANNE UPHOLSTERED AND CARVED WALNUT
DUTCH FOOTED ARMCHAIR American, circa 1720-30

5000
Slightly canted high back with hollowed head rest, voluted and abbreviated arms with fluted terminals resting on attenuated supports which spring from the seat frame; saddle-shaped seat. Cabriole front legs, carved with fluted shells and bell-flowers on the knees end in pad feet and are braced to the chamfered rear posts by turned spindle stretchers. Back and slip seat covered in old flowered silk brocade.

Note: An American origin for the present chair is grounded in the fact that the back posts are of maple, while the remainder of the frame is solid walnut, and is of the same general character as the vase-splatted fiddle-back chairs with 'Dutch' feet and stretchers made in New England and Pennsylvania at this period. Very rare.

479. FINELY CARVED 'FLEMISH SCROLL' DAYBED

900
The canted head-panel composed of two turned posts with baluster finials, framing a caned rectangular panel, the arched crest carved in a design of conventional leafage. The frame of maple or beech, supported by eight scrolled legs of the so-called 'Flemish' type and braced longitudinally by stretchers lavishly carved as C-scrolls and foliage, and crosswise by turned stretchers. When found, the mattress was in a dilapidated condition and has a temporary covering of fabric.

Length, 5 feet 1 inch; width, 21 inches

Note: Excepting the turned heavy daybeds of oak and ash that have been found in Pennsylvania, the present specimen may claim to be of the earliest type combining the purely ornamental with utilitarian qualities. A similar daybed is in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, American Wing; see handbook, fig. 26.

480. WALNUT BLOCK-FRONT WRITING DESK BY JONATHAN
HARRINGTON, SURVIVOR OF THE BATTLE OF
LEXINGTON, APRIL 19TH, 1775 Lexington, Mass., circa 1770
Equipped with four long drawers graded in depth showing raised and depressed square blocking; above, a hinged slant flap encloses arched pigeonholes and small drawers; base bordered by a cyma molding shaped to conform with the contour of the drawer fronts and ornamented at the centre with a conventional pendent motive; ogee bracket feet. Brasses not original.

Height, 41 inches; width, 38 inches

Note: Jonathan Harrington, cabinetmaker of Lexington, Mass., is known as the last survivor of this historical action, which commenced the War of the Revolution. Harrington, a young man at this time, marshaled his compatriots on that April morning by playing the fife on Lexington Green. His relatives, Jonathan and Caleb Harrington, were killed, but there is no record of Jonathan Harrington having taken any further part in the battle. As Lossing states in his Pictorial Field Book of the Revolution, "Mr. Harrington opened the Ball of the Revolution with the shrill notes of the fife and then retired from the arena". He continued to live to a ripe old age, and at ninety years was interviewed by the author of this capital work on the Revolutionary War.

An affidavit by Major Alfred Pierce, Justice of the Peace, Lexington, Mass., substantiates the foregoing and will be given to the purchaser.

481. THE RUFUS CHOATE PANELED AND CARVED OAK
ONE-DRAWER CHEST

New England, circa 1660-1680

6,500
Rectangular chest of quartered oak, the two-board lid also of oak, hinged to the frame by wood pegs through the under-cleats. The front divided into three sunk panels framed by moldings in geometric pattern, each panel ornamented with five applied egg-shaped bosses, the dividing and flanking stiles ornamented with applied double-split balusters and similar bosses; in the lower part, a drawer simulating two drawers, with wood knobs. The back supports are continuations of the corner stiles, the front feet are of turned baluster and ball pattern. Two missing small sections of the applied ornament have been left untouched. Retains old coating of brown paint, moldings of lower drawer and skirt missing.

Height, 32 1/2 inches; length, 38 inches; width, 19 1/2 inches

Note: The chest has descended in the Essex, Mass., branch of the Choate family, which includes that great scholar and eminent attorney, Rufus Choate, (1799-1859), who is descended from John, the first American Choate, who settled in Massachusetts and became a citizen in 1667. As the chest could have been made at any time between 1660 and 1690, it may be assumed that it has remained in the possession of this distinguished New England family for close to two and a half centuries, and was purchased by the present owners direct from members of the family. An illustration made thirty-three years ago for a genealogical history of the family shows the chest in its present condition, standing in a room in the family homestead on Choate Island, built by Francis Choate in 1725, and where Rufus Choate was born.

482. RARE PANELED OAK ONE-DRAWER CONNECTICUT CHEST

American, circa 1680

Rectangular chest standing on four flattened ball feet. The front divided into three panels, the centre panel octagonal and centred by applied moldings representing an eight-pointed star, the flanking panels four-sectional, each quarter centred by a small ebonized boss. The dividing and flanking stiles show characteristic ornamentation of applied ebonized split balusters arranged in pairs. In the lower part is a single drawer paneled to simulate two drawers and featuring similar split baluster ornaments of smaller scale. The plainness of the frieze is relieved with applied ribbing and is scratch-carved with the initials R. L., at either side of the key-plate. Interior contains a till at one end; hinged and molded lid of pine hinged to the body by wood pegs through the cleats. The base and panel moldings are also ebonized. Museum piece.

484. HISTORIC COMB-BACK WINDSOR WRITING ARMCHAIR OWNED BY WILLIAM WIRT, AUTHOR OF "LETTERS OF THE BRITISH SPY"

American, circa 1800

Constructed of pine, hickory and ash, the flaring comb-back containing nine spindles, capped by an oblong crest-rail which retains traces of original polychromy. Broad writing arm of pine fitted with an under-slung drawer, and a pivoted bracket to hold a candle; broad seat, flaring bamboo-pattern legs and stretchers.

Note: William Wirt (1772-1834), scholar, author, state legislator, and eminent lawyer, was a friend of Thomas Jefferson and James Monroe and is famous for his speech in the trial in which he assisted the United States attorney in the prosecution of Aaron Burr. The speech, occupying four hours, was characterized for its eloquent appeal, polished wit, and logical reasoning, and greatly extended his fame. A prolific author, his works include Sketches of the Life and Character of Patrick Henry, Letters by John Quincy Adams and William Wirt to the Anti-Masonic Committee of York County, and Addresses on the Triumph of Liberty in France. He afterwards became U. S. Attorney General under Madison. It is claimed that Wirt wrote Letters of the British Spy on this chair, the legend being handed down in the family. The historical association of the chair is given in an accompanying affidavit sworn to by a direct descendant. This affidavit will be given to the purchaser.

487. HEPPLEWHITE MAHOGANY SERPENTINE-FRONT SIDEBOARD
DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE New England, circa 1790

Oblong top, with a boldly serpentine broken front, flaring in a rich sweep; convex centre arranged with a cockbeaded long drawer surmounting double cupboards, the concave returns each with a smaller drawer surmounting a cupboard; on six square tapering legs. Trimmed with fine original oval brasses stamped with the American eagle and having reeded bail handles; the crotched mahogany of the front displaying exceptional beauty of grain. The piece is in original condition. Height, 43 inches; length, 5 feet 11 inches

Note: Josiah Bartlett (1729-1795) was born in Amesbury, Mass.; he practised medicine, and taking a prominent part in local Whig politics, became in 1775 delegate to the Continental Congress, and Colonel of Militia. He became Chief Justice of the province in 1788 and, in 1793, first Governor of the State of New Hampshire under the new constitution. He died in New Hampshire, May 19, 1795. An affidavit sets forth the purchase of the sideboard from Mrs. Rollins, a descendant of the Governor.

492. IMPORTANT SET OF SIX QUEEN ANNE WALNUT
FIDDLE-BACK CHAIRS, BY JOB TOWNSEND

Newport, R. I., circa 1730

900 ea
Conforming tall back with yoke-shaped crest and vase-shaped splat, on molded plinth. Saddle-shaped seat frames, finely proportioned cabriole front legs ending in 'Dutch' feet, carved with beading at the knees and braced to the chamfered square back legs by cyma curved flat stretchers. Slip seat covered in yellow silk. One of the chairs has been refinished; the five remaining chairs retain their original patina.

Note: Job Townsend, (1699-1765), was uncle to John Townsend and, with his brother Christopher, established a cabinet trade in Newport, R. I., and laid the foundation for its high reputation in this branch of industry. Besides being a cabinetmaker and chairmaker, he was Town Treasurer and engaged in other civic activities. John Goddard, the noted cabinetmaker, married Townsend's daughter Hannah, in 1746. Judging from a point of style and condition, the present set of six chairs are extremely fine. The fact that they and the following wing chair match and are by the same maker makes them extremely interesting and almost unique. Two turned gate-leg tables by Job Townsend in the Wadsworth Atheneum are recorded in Wallace Nutting, Furniture Treasury, figs. 963 and 965.

496. RARE QUEEN ANNE CABRIOLE-LEG WALNUT DAYBED

New England, circa 1735

Canted back, the finely turned and blocked uprights with knob finials, the remainder of the back adjustable, and having beautiful yoke-shaped top-rail surmounting a plain vase splat. Seat with plain rails and furnished with a green leatherette couched cushion; on eight legs, six of which are cabriole, joined by round turned and blocked cross-stretchers.

Length, 5 feet 8 inches

Note: A piece of exemplary quality, with the rare 'double-post' back, elegantly shaped; the neat, compact design contrasts favorably with the broader and more sumptuous Pennsylvania pieces. The daybed was originally the property of the Rev. Daniel Sanders, who was born in 1768 at Sturbridge, Mass., and graduated from Harvard College in 1788. He married Nancy, daughter of Dr. Jabez Fitch, and in 1800 was elected President of the recently founded University of Vermont, receiving the degree of D.D. from Harvard in 1809. He left Burlington, Vt. in 1814. The bed was purchased from Mrs. G. H. Smith, a direct descendant, as set forth below.

501. THE GOVERNOR STRONG FAN-CARVED CHERRY HIGHBOY WITH CLAW-AND-BALL FEET, BY AARON CHAPIN

Connecticut, circa 1770-80

12,000
Comprising a case of three small and four long drawers, superimposed upon a base containing one long and three small drawers, the top and bottom small drawers displaying the characteristic carved fans, or sunbursts. Surmounted by a pediment of architrave form composed of two gracefully voluted moldings which terminate in whorls, the interspaces filled with fret-carved trellis work. The pediment is further ornamented with three handsome turned baluster finials; the centre ornament on a fluted semicircular plinth, the smaller side finials on molded and square plinths. The corners of the upper and lower bodies are chamfered and fluted simulating quarter-columns, with reeding on the lower sections and capitals of bronze. Skirt valanced in cyma curves at front and sides; angular cabriole legs ending in claw-and-ball feet.

Height, 7 feet 1 inch; width, 40 inches

Note: Aaron Chapin is recorded as working in East Windsor, Conn., and in 1783 moved to Hartford, where he was known as one of the foremost cabinet-makers of his time. The highboy was owned originally by Caleb Strong of Northampton, Mass., who in 1789 was elected one of the first U. S. Senators from Massachusetts, and from 1800 to 1807 served as Governor of the State, and was again Governor from 1812 to 1816.
